

Theatre Trip

Thursday 5th July 2007

The Lord of the Rings, the first major stage adaptation of J.R.R. Tolkien's classic trilogy, will receive its British and European Premiere when it opens in London in Summer 2007, at the Theatre Royal Drury Lane.

An international creative team has combined all three books into one unmissable theatrical event that will transform the Theatre Royal Drury Lane into Middle-earth... A thrilling score, a spectacular design, and an ensemble of over 70 actors, singers and musicians. A rare treat indeed.

The book and lyrics are co-written by Matthew Warchus (Our House) who also directs, music is co-written by AR Rahman (Bombay Dreams) and choreography is from Peter Darling (Billy Elliot). With a production team like that it can't help but be 'precious'.
